OUR HISTORY

The Easton Farmers' Market was established in 1752, the year of the City's founding. For more than two and a half centuries farmers and merchants have gathered in Easton's "Great Square" to peddle their fresh food and handcrafted wares. On July 8, 1776, the Great Square (now known as Centre Square) was the site for one of only three public readings of the Declaration of Independence. Today the Easton Farmers' Market remains a rich and colorful piece of Easton's heritage. Residing in its original birthplace , the market draws on its deep roots and offers visitors a vibrant shopping experience and an amazing sense of community spirit.

EAT FRESH

All products sold at the Easton Farmers' Market are locally grown and produced. The vast majority of the produce is certified organic or chemical-free. All produce is GMO free. All meat and dairy are antibiotic and hormone free. Animals are pasture raised. Prepared food and ready-to-eat vendors source ingredients from local farms when-ever possible. All farms undergo a full on-site inspection. EastonFarmersMarket.com
